Kameron Sandridge, a construction student at North Panola Career and Technical Center, is being honored by the Mississippi Construction Education Foundation as student of the month for the state's northern region.

As a standout student with a perfect attendance, Sandridge demonstrates a remarkable passion for knowledge through his hands-on learning style. He was introduced to the construction trade by his grandfather and brother through the family business and often uses his experience to assist fellow students.

After graduation, Sandridge plans to pursue his construction certification from Northwest Community College.
