Kyle Newburn, a senior at Jackson County Technology Center, is being honored by the Mississippi Construction Education Foundation as student of the month for the state's southern region.

Setting Newburn apart is his remarkable desire to learn, a trait he has used to become one of the state's top electronic technology students. Frequently requesting more homework and study options, Newburn was soon leading classroom discussions while guiding classmates to a better understanding of AC and DC circuits.

Newburn's achievements didn't stop there. His knowledge and application of electronics earned him first place honors in this year's SkillsUSA district and state competitions with a shot at the national title this summer.

Upon graduation, Newburn plans to attend Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and eventually a four-year university in pursuit of a degree in engineering.
