

Student of the Month – November 2014 North Area

Trey Harris, Industrial Maintenance Desoto Career Tech Center East

Trey Harris is a second year Industrial Maintenance student that attends Olive Branch High School. Last year Trey made it clear that he wanted to pursue a career in the welding field. The first day of class, he brought in a complete set of his own welding equipment and also informed me that he had purchased his own welder.

Trey is a very disciplined student who is capable of operating all of the shop's equipment without any supervision and never turns down a chance to learn new skills.

This year he signed up for the Northwest Community College welding program and was one of the first students to want to attend the Arkansas Welding Expo. He is one of our most successful students in performance and academics. He rarely misses class and is always well behaved in class. Trey is very involved in his church and I ran into Trey at the nursing home one Saturday while he was visiting a shut-in patient. An instructor couldn't ask for a better student than Trey Harris and I know that he is going to be very successful in life.
